Fiona M.

Head of Litigation, International at JLL
United Kingdom

Summary

Strategic business partner, working collaboratively and effectively with senior executives to provide solutions and mitigate risk.

I manage significant disputes involving JLL, a global real estate services provider with 90,000+ employees. I am responsible for JLL's global portfolio of disputes and work closely with team members and external counsel throughout the world. I am highly skilled at building relationships with colleagues and stakeholders, leading and working in teams, and delivering results.

As well as resolving disputes, I set strategic priorities for litigation management, report to internal and external stakeholders on trending, create training content on risk mitigation, lessons learned and dispute resolution, and contribute proactively to employee wellbeing and development initiatives.

I am an experienced, creative and dynamic litigator with a demonstrated history of achievement. I am skilled in managing all aspects of litigation throughout the life cycle of a claim, with a very strong professional and education background.
