This event will be organized into two parts. During the first part of the event, there will be a short, Oxford-style mock debate (2 speakers per side) before a three-member mock “arbitral tribunal” advocating for and against more transparency in international commercial arbitration.

After the debate, there will be a round-table discussion among the panelists and the audience/ attendees led by the “arbitral tribunal” on the pros and cons of increased transparency building on the points raised in the debate as well as sharing practical considerations on the tensions between confidentiality and transparency in international arbitration. Audience participation will be a key part of this program.
